

PhD Symposium

organized by
The History of Architecture and Urbanism Society at Cornell University

9:30 - Introduction, Ana Ozaki, Cornell University, History of Architecture and Urban Development

Panel 1

9:40 - "Reclamation by Design: Landscape Architecture and the Politics of Mined Land Reclamation," Christina Shivers, Harvard University, Planning

10:05 - "Designing Canadian resource landscapes: Three histories of double vision," Douglas Rob, University of British Columbia, Geography

10:30 - "Extractive Capitalist Worldbuilding: Van Ginkel Associates in the North," Jordan Kinder, University of Alberta, Media Studies/English

10:55 - Response, Asya Ece Uzmay, Cornell University, History of Architecture and Urban Development

11:10 - Discussion

Panel 2

12:30 - "From Decolonization to Environmentalism: The Shift of French Solar Architecture circa 1973," Paul Bouet, École nationale supérieure d'architecture Paris-Est, Architecture

12:55 - "Greenhouse in the Desert: urban agriculture and the technologies of environmental management," Jessica Ngan, Princeton University, Architecture

1:20 - "Making Place in Times of Climate Change: Dirt, Ice and Magic in Hunza," Javairia Shahid, Columbia University, History of Architecture

1:45 - Response, Michael Moynihan, Cornell University, History of Architecture and Urban Development

2:00 - Discussion

April 22, 2021

The Politics of Building a Climate Crisis

5:00 - Keynote by Prof. Daniel A. Barber, PhD, University of Pennsylvania Weitzman, School of Design

Register here